Inherited Blood Poison.
How many people there are whose distress from sores, aches, pains and eruptive tendencies are due to inherited blood poison. Bad blood passes from parent to child, and it therefore is the duty of husband and wife to keep their blood pure. This is easily accomplished by a timely use of B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm). Send to B. B. B. Co., Atlanta, for book of most convincing proof. James Hill, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "My two sons were afflicted with blood poison, which doctors said was hereditary. They both broke out in sores and eruptions which B. B. B. promptly cured. I feel and finally cured completely."

Mrs. S. M. Williams, Sandy, Tex. writes: "My three poor afflicted children, who inherited blood poison, have improved rapidly after use of B. B. B. It is a Godsend."

J. R. Wilson, Glen Alpine Station, N. C., Feb. 13, 1885, writes: "I have had blood poison forced me to have my leg amputated, and on the stump there came a large ulcer, which grew worse every day until doctors gave me up to die. I only weighed 120 pounds when I began to take B. B. B. and 12 weeks later I weighed 180 pounds and made me sound and well. I never knew what good health was before."

Deafness Can't Be Cured
by local application, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and the inflammation closes the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be restored, and forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is a swelling but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give one hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking HALL'S CATARRH CURE. Send for circulars, free.

THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Caucasian and the Opinion of others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

Our people can remember, not many years ago, when a case would stay in court from five to twenty years waiting for a hearing, so crowded was the docket. The spring term of court for the hearing of civil cases in this county was a two weeks term, covering last week and this. Court was at work only about two days. We met a citizen, he called our attention to the fact that the morals, or rather the sense of justice in our county was decidedly on the increase. We met a lawyer, he called our attention to the fact that our county was in a bad way, he said when people were prosperous that there was much conflict of interest and much litigation, and that people were then able to defend their rights. Now which is right? We went to dinner and took a seat by Judge Graves. He said it was due to a narrowing of the field of litigation by the Legislature and the decisions of the Supreme Court. For instance the Supreme Court has decided that when a man commits tort, a wrong for which he is amenable in damages, that he can "take water" under the homestead act. This decision is clearly wrong, it was not for the protection of wrong doers that the homestead law was passed. The Judge, we believe, is right, for there would be equally as much justice in giving the man who commits a wrong against the State the benefit of the exemption as the man who commits a wrong against his neighbor. Under this decision at least nine-tenths of the citizens of this county can be lawless in their acts toward their fellow-man and still not be amenable before the courts. There are at least twenty such grievances in this county that would have been before the last term of this court had it not been for this decision. By it twenty aggrieved persons must bear their unrequited wrongs and two wrong doers go unpunished. Let the constitutionality of the decision be tested. The Farmers' Alliance committees on the good of the order have done much to lessen the number of cases, but the fact is still as we have stated it.

In every day's paper we can count several boiler explosions, and in nine-tenths of the cases it is caused by the ignorance of the engineer. In such cases the engineers are men with no education, (in the South mostly negroes), who have been shown how to start and how to stop the engine, but men who know little or nothing of the structure of engines and boilers, and who have no conception of the great expansive force of steam. In every case of an explosion much property is destroyed, and in nearly every case many lives are blown into eternity. Last week the Lannier distillery at Salisbury was blown to atoms and four people killed and a number so mangled that death would be a blessing.

The Greensboro Patriot says: "The water in the boiler was low and Beaver, who was novice at engine running, suddenly tried on the cold water." My great-grandfather met death in the same way. He was captain of a vessel, and an ignorant engineer blew it to atoms by pumping cold water into a hot boiler. Engineers should be educated and cautious men. They should stand an examination, be licensed, and it should be an indictable offence for any other to take charge of an engine.

A CHAMPION.

THE ALLIANCE HAS FOUND IN SENATOR VANCE.

He introduces a Bill identical With the Demands
MADE BY THE NATIONAL ALLIANCE AT ST. LOUIS.

Government Warehouses for Farm Products.

Washington, March 4th.—Last week Senator Vance introduced a bill covering identically one of the demands made by the National Alliance at St. Louis last December. It is to establish a system of government storehouses for agricultural products. The bill provides that whenever one hundred or more citizens of any county in any State, the average value of the farm products of which county for the two years next preceding shall have amounted to $500,000 at the current prices, shall request the location of one or more government storehouses and the fact the farm products of such county shall be certified under oath by the county clerk or sheriff to the Agricultural Department, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of Agriculture to immediately cause an examination to be made to verify the representation of such citizens, and if the examination proves satisfactory then the Secretary shall at once proceed to have erected one or more Government storehouses. But as a necessary preliminary it must be certified under oath to the Secretary that a site or sites for the storehouse or storehouses have been designated by a majority of the legally qualified voters of the county at an election held for that purpose; also that at such election, by a majority vote, the legal voters selected suitable managers for the proposed storehouse. It is also required that the necessary ground for locations shall be donated to the Government by the citizens. These requirements having been complied with, the Secretary shall proceed, under laws and regulations governing the erection of public buildings, to have erected such storehouse or storehouses as have been requested. Or the Secretary in his discretion may purchase or lease suitable warehouses or buildings for the purpose. Farmers may store in such government storehouses the products of their farms as are not perishable; no perishable or imported products can be stored. It shall be the duty of the manager to issue to the farmer a warehouse receipt setting forth the quantity, quality and value of the products stored, the value to be based upon the current market prices. The manager shall in this receipt also set forth the amount of insurance, of weighing, classing and all other charges against the farm products stored. This warehouse receipt shall be negotiable.

The products may be demanded at any time by the holder of the warehouse receipt, but he must remove them within eleven months from date of storage. The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to make all necessary regulations for governing these storehouses. Senator Vance says his bill will relieve farmers. His plan is that the manager of the government storehouse shall issue to the farmer storing products, United States Treasury notes for eighty per cent of the value of products shown by warehouse receipts; that the manager of the storehouse shall be a Treasury agent, and issue these notes, taking the warehouse receipt as security, that within eleven months the farmer must redeem this receipt and his stored products, with Treasury note, and to prevent inflation of the currency, these notes must be cancelled. The farmer must pay in addition to insurance and warehouse charges one per cent per annum for the loan advanced him by the government. If he fails to redeem, his products will be sold and the proceeds paid to the National Treasury. Senator Vance believes this plan will afford great relief to Southern farmers by enabling them to hold their crops of tobacco, cotton, etc., for higher prices, and at the same time the government will be absolutely secure.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is on the flood tide of popularity, which position it has reached by its own intrinsic, undoubted merit.

STARTLING EXPENDITURES.

The Government estimates for current expenses, as shown by Mr. Peters, a Representative from Kansas, in a recent speech in the House, foot up $442,000,000. That itself is somewhat startling. But, in addition, there are schemes upon schemes.

The following measures for squandering are being pressed by Republicans in Congress:

Prison Pension Bill, 11,500,000
Arrears of pensions, 471,000,000
Service pension bill, 144,000,000
Dependent pension bill, 35,678,500
Dolph's fortification bill, 50,000,000
Blair bill, 87,000,000
River and Harbor bill 20,000,000

Total, 1,251,000,000

Now the estimated revenue for the year is $45,000,000 or only about one-third of the above figures.

Certainly all of these schemes will not carry. The G. O. P. will not be so reckless as to pass all of these measures, but enough will probably be adopted to bankrupt the Treasury. The surplus will go where the wood tick twined, and the country saddled with the charge of so many unnecessary expenditures will labor under an intolerable burden and the groans of the people will be heard throughout the land.—News and Observer.

A BIG RAILROAD MOVE.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 26.—The House committee on roads have before them a bill to allow the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railroad, Fredericksburg and Potomac, Richmond and Petersburg, Farmville and Powhatan, the Petersburg, Meherrin Valley and Wilmington and Weldon Railroad Companies to be consolidated into one company to be known as the Atlantic Coast Railway Company. One of the features of the act is that any road exempted from State taxation will forfeit that privilege upon the acceptance of the consolidation term. It is said that the Richmond Terminal is trying to pounce upon these lines and it is thought best to consolidate, which will make such a scheme more difficult.

The State says in this connection: "It has been rumored in railroad and financial circles for some time that the Richmond and West Point Terminal which controls the Richmond and Danville and other great lines, was trying to get control of the Coast Line system. It is understood that such an ambitious attempt as that would be difficult to accomplish, but to make it still more difficult the Coast Line people propose to consolidate their roads into one company. At least the proposed scheme will be construed in the railroad world partly as a checkmate move."

U. N. C. NOTES.

The course offered at the University to the teachers of the State this spring has never been equalled before. It is wide, thorough, comprehending all that is needed to teach in higher schools of the State. No tuition is required. Board can be obtained at very reasonable rates. This is one of the most liberal offers ever made, and should be profited by every teacher in the State.

The Shakespeare Club and the Elisha Scientific Mitchell Society are doing some very valuable work. Special credit should be given to Drs. Hume and Alexander and Mr. Hester for the success of the former, and to Prof. Venable Holmes and Gore for that of the latter. They are always largely attended by the students who never fail to realize great benefit from them.—Wil. Messenger.

A WORD WITH NORTH CAROLINA MANUFACTURERS.

The News and Observer, in order to let our people see where they can obtain North Carolina made goods, will print a directory of North Carolina factories, showing the articles manufactured. To this end manufacturers are asked to send us on a postal card, the name of their factory, town or post office, and a list of goods made. Our State exchanges can aid in this business, if they will, by bringing the above proposition to the attention of the manufacturers in their respective counties.—News and Observer.

INTERESTING DISCUSSIONS.

At the Farmers' Institute held in Kinston last week, there were many interesting points we learn from the Free Press brought out. Prof. Chamberlain said. He heard a cotton manufacturer say if he used the same kind of machinery now that he used 30 years ago it would bankrupt him in six months. We have to keep up with the improved methods and implements of farming, as well as do manufacturers have to keep up with the improved methods and machines in their business, to succeed.

STOCK RAISING AND MANURE.

The speaker spoke at length on the great advantages of raising stock. He said large stock raising is the means by which the lands of England have been redeemed in a few years from poor to the richest lands in the world. The manures produced by the cows are worth more than the milk. A horse makes about nine tons of fertilizers each year. Fifteen to twenty per cent of the manure from stock is lost by exposure. There is a loss in waiting for manure to rot, much of its strength being lost by leaching in the ground. He wanted the question of rotted or fresh manure discussed here today.

The time has come for the use of less commercial and more home-made fertilizers, which must come from stock. A ton of clover hay worth $9, if fed to cattle will produce manure worth $8; a ton of cotton seed meal worth $28, when fed to cattle will produce manure worth $25.25; bran worth $17, fed to cattle will produce manure worth $11.17. Some allowance for waste must be made, but it is safe to calculate manure worth of clover, $10.55 from $9 worth of clover; $17.20 from $22.08 worth of manure from $28 worth of cotton seed meal. After this will you continue to buy commercial guano?

One inch of rainfall gives 100 tons of water per acre. Every ton of water passed through a ton of manure carries away about 60 cents worth of plant food. Can you afford to leach the manure before carrying it to the field? $3 worth of horse stable manure was exposed to the weather and in six months lost 42 per cent of its value, so that it was only worth $1.74. (Continued next week.)

THE NEW BERNE EXHIBITION.

We congratulate the New Bernians on the fine success of their Third Exhibition, of which all bear such decided testimony. This display is said to be all that could have been expected and large crowds had the pleasure of seeing it. Much to our own disappointment, we were not of the number. We had very much at heart that Northern gentlemen who are recognized authority in fish and game should attend, and are pleased to see from the Journal that among those present was Mr. Charles Hallowell, associate editor of the American Angler, who declared he displayed to be "wonderful beyond description." He says further that he had never seen a variegation of so many different kinds of fresh fish at one time, not even at the annual opening display at York Fulton market in April. He mentioned also that he had the assurance of United States Commissioner Blackford that "your best shad are fully equal to our best North River shad (a great concession), and that the natural oysters of North Carolina are in every respect equal to any in the world."—News and Observer.

A DEAD SOLDIER'S SISTER WANTED.

THE CATTLE BOT FLY.

(Special Cor. Caucasian.)

CLINTON, N. C., March 1, '90. During the past few weeks the writer has heard so much complaint of the ravages of that prevalent pest of cattle, the Gad Fly, or Bot Fly, (that goes by the popular and meaningless name of "wolf"), and has heard so many inquiring for a remedy against their damages that, with your permission, Mr. Editor, he will give briefly some important facts relative to the pestilent insect for the benefit of the farmers and others interested in cattle who read The Caucasian. And right now is a most opportune time for suggesting an effective remedy. Now the pest can be easily exterminated, for on account of its habits it can be easily reached and every one of the race destroyed. The pests are now within the swellings which they make on the backs of cattle and which can be easily felt by passing the hand over the skin. The grubs may be removed by squeezing the tumors, when they will be forced out, and then be crushed. If the opening in the skin is too small it may be enlarged with the sharp point of a knife to facilitate the removal of the grub. If this is not done now, when warm weather comes the grubs will come out and drop to the ground, where they will remain until July, when they will mature into perfect flies and repeat the round of existence of their species. The fly attacks its victims in the late summer by stinging them on the back and depositing an egg in the place stung. The eggs thus deposited become small white grubs, which form an abscess under the skin, causing the secretion of pus by the irritation produced, and living upon this as their food. They grow rapidly to a large size and breathe through a hole in the skin, which always remains open. There they stay during the winter a source of constant irritation to their victims, and thereby preventing their full growth and greatly reducing the yield of milk. The fly is much like a bee in appearance and is larger than the horse-bot fly, which lays its eggs on the hair of the animal.

Its attacks upon cattle may be prevented by smearing their backs with grease, with which a small quantity of crude carbolic acid has been mixed. T. J. JEE, Druggist.

WHY THERE ARE SO FEW GREAT PREACHERS.

Men of intellect and education, who are capable of enthusiasm and ardor in the service of mankind, are deterred from seeking to do that service through the christian ministry. They cannot honorably accept its doctrinal requirements and will not submit to its mental restrictions. Hence they are excluded from a calling in which they are fitted to accomplish great good for the human race. The young generation, absorbing as it grows to maturity the knowledge and the thought of the living time, the results of investigation and criticism that filter from the studies of scholars through the printing press, the public library and the reading room, and permeates the subtle medium of communication in which all society moves and lives, is repelled from religious association by dogmas which its common sense will not accept. The p edication in Victor Hugo's tale of the time of Louis XI., that the printing press would kill the church, was true of the ecclesiastical fabric of that time, which is already a crumbling mass. Whether it is true of the universal christian church depends upon whether the vitality of that body is in the integuments of creed and doctrine that have been wrapped about it, or in the enduring necessities of the human soul.—A. K. Fiske in the March Forum.

The Masons, Odd Fellows, Military Company and the Knights of Honor will participate in the ceremony of the corner-stone laying at the M. E. Church, on Friday.
The Sampson Building and Loan Association has granted two loans of $200 and $400 respectively to be used in building two residences, one on De Vane street, the other on McKoy street.
A two-story addition, 20x120 feet, is being added to the Carolina Veneer Works. The up-stairs will be used for making berry-baskets, the floor will be a dry room. In the front will be the proprietor's office.
Examine this copy of The Caucasian. Is it creditable to the county? Does it deserve support? Have you a neighbor who does not subscribe? Show him this paper and call his attention to the fact.
There will be a special meeting of the Clinton Alliance in the courthouse on Friday night. The meeting will be public and everybody is invited to attend. The meeting is for general discussions.
The Clinton and Warsaw telegraph line is now managed by Mr. Holland, the Railroad Agent, and he says that it shall be kept in good repair and that messages may be sent any time, day or night.
We call special attention to the valuable article by Mr. T. J. Lee, Veterinary Surgeon, on the "Bot Fly," commonly known as "Cattle Wolf." He will tell our readers next week something about the "Grubs," which is often said to kill horses.
Work is progressing on the mammoth concern that will contain the planing machines and dry kilns of Messrs. Stewart, Hines & Beaman. When finished it will be one of Clinton's big enterprises. It will give employment to probably seventy-five or a hundred hands.
Mr. H. B. Sloan, of Iowa, of the U. S. Census force, was in town from last Thursday till Monday evening, getting from the office of the Registrar of Deeds the amount of mortgages on real estate in the county, and also the number of acres of land covered by the mortgages. We fear that he found the amount very large. These facts will be published in the 11th Census report.
A building and loan association is a most ingenious and, when well managed and well protected by law, secure device to aid persons of small means to save money. A mechanic or other laboring man of limited income who seeks to establish his own home can, by aid of such an association, secure his home on most favorable terms. The association loans him money in a manner and at a rate that he could not otherwise obtain.—Manufacturers Record.
The Adel (Ga.) News says, Mr. O. L. Chesnut and family, of Clinton, North Carolina, have recently moved to our State, and for the present are stopping with his brother, Mr. J. H. Chesnut, living above Sparks. Mr. Chesnut was here on a visit two or three years ago, and was so delighted with our locality that he decided to move here. He was in our town prospecting this week, and speaks of purchasing land, but up a good dwelling and becoming one of the citizens of Adel. We welcome him as he would, beyond a doubt, be a valuable addition to the town.
Mr. Livius Cromartie Perkins, aged forty-four years, died in Baltimore, Md., February 11th. He leaves a widow and five children. The older citizens of Clinton remember him as the little ten-year-old boy who, about 1850, used to carry the "Clinton Independent" to their doors. He entered the Confederate army when about fourteen years old, and was in the battle when New Bern fell into the hands of the Federal army, served as courier most of the latter part of the war, and surrendered with Baker's cavalry at Smithfield, in North Carolina, after Lee had surrendered. He married in Baltimore and was a very upright citizen.
Rain Saturday, snow Sunday, accompanied by the first freeze of the winter. Truckers have had a back set. Peas and other early vegetables have been killed. We fear that fruit and huckleberries are much damaged. But if there had come enough rain to make a freshet in the rivers, so that tar, timber, etc., could have been shipped, the rose would not have been all thorns. Many a man's whole winter's work lies on the rivers' banks waiting for nature's highways to afford transportation. If this stuff could be shipped there would be thousands of dollars immediately put into circulation and everybody would feel the good effects, even the editor.

Publisher's Notice.
Our readers will please remember that we cannot publish long obituaries free. We are compelled to throw two or three in the waste-basket nearly every week. If there were not so many and they were not so long, we would cheerfully publish all free, but we are bound to make a charge as a check on length. We will give the first ten lines free and charge 5 cents a line (one-half regular advertising price) for each additional line.
That so many have responded so promptly to our call of last week with all or part of their subscription is very gratifying to us. Several have come in and paid us as little as twenty-five cents, who owed for as much as a year. We greatly appreciate this for we know that they were honest in it, when they said that it was all they could spare at present. On the other hand we hope that those who have not yet responded did not take offence at our call. We did not ask you to settle because we feared you would not pay, but because we are compelled to raise some money to meet our just debts. If there was on our books to-day the name of a man we thought would not pay us, he would never receive another paper from our office. We would scarcely want such a name on our books, even if he paid in advance. So we trust that those who have not let us hear from them, will kindly do so at their earliest convenience.
The timber of this county, including sweet-gum, poplar and pine, is worth at least one million dollars, valued at $5.00 per thousand. Work this timber up into furniture, trunks, &c., and it would be worth $50 per thousand instead of $5.00. Why not start such enterprises? There is more money invested in several stores in this town of Clinton than it would take to start some such enterprise that would create wealth—an enterprise that would pay the investor better, give prestige to him and the place—ensure wonderfully to the material prosperity of the county and Eastern Carolina. The present prosperity of the place is due in a great measure to the Carolina Veneer Works, and the same amount of capital invested in a half a dozen small enterprises would do more even than the one large enterprise.
Winter, according to the calendar, took his leave last Friday, without having even so much as put in his appearance, during the whole season allotted to the crusty, freezing old dog. Vegetation that had so daringly donned the summer attire of green in the warm mid-winter's summer, seemed merrily confident on Saturday morning that winter had been knocked out of his turn for the season. But who can tell what a day may bring forth. Yes, alas, Sunday morning the old man had descended with the fury of pent-up wrath, with snow, ice and more low temperature. Moral (by Longfellow): Winter never retires in the skies.
Do idly the neatest and prattiest cottage in town is the one that Mr. Wm. A. Johnson is having built on the north corner of McKoy and Johnson streets. It is the Gothic cottage style of architecture, with steep roof, fancy gables and bay window. Mr. D. A. Clinton is the contractor. We understand that Mr. Johnson has closed another contract with him for a similar building on Johnson street. Such a structure costs but little more than a barn-shed house, and will rent for a half more, beside being an ornament to the place.
A Missing Man.
Mrs. H. S. Spivey, Clinton, N. C., writes the Star, that her brother, Duncan M. T. Autry, a man of unclouded mind, not capable of traveling alone, left his home during the absence of the family on Sunday, the 9th instant, for Worth county, Georgia, where he has a sister living, and it is feared that he perished on the way. He was without money and had but a few clothes in a tow sack. His brother-in-law came to Wilmington in search of him, but could find no trace of him here. He was traced to within "four miles of the city, and was heard of at Currie's, where he was advised to leave the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad track and go through the country. The unfortunate man's family are in deep distress and will be thankful for any information concerning him. He is described as a short stout man with light hair and blue eyes, and had bad teeth.—Wm. Star.
News has come to Clinton that the missing man is in Marion, S. C. Mrs. Spivey left Tuesday morning for that place.—En.
New Bern's Great and Unique Fair.
It was quite a disappointment to us that we were unable to attend New Bern's winter Fair this year. We are delighted to learn that it was such a decided success. Mr. M. M. Killett of South Clinton returned from there Friday. He says he never saw anything like it. Mountains of fish just caught from the rivers and coast, game in profusion, live and otherwise. Oyster oysters! besides many of the other ordinary attractions at fairs. Mr. Killett says that the New Bernians are wonderfully clever and courteous people even to a stranger.

NEWTON GROVE.
The farmers of this section are busy, preparing for another crop.
We have heard that the people in some sections during the past winter would get together to talk about "these hard times," instead of going to work to make them get better.
"These hard times" must be on a change. Why? It seems as if every body that is not married is trying to get married. Even some of those who have been married twice are being married and some others trying to be.
The "Grippe" still lingers with our people. Some get well and travel for a week or two when they are taken again. There are but few families that have not got it. One man has said, "My folks got up to eat and go right back to bed."

After an excellent dinner, the Rev. Mr. Barker arose, amid shouts of applause, and addressed the audience on the subject of Public Education. Respectfully,
"VISITOR."
Mr. Bell is a model teacher and has taught for us two years and has given general satisfaction. We regret very much to know that he is going to quit teaching for we feel sure in saying, that Sampson will lose one of her best teachers. He is going to quit teaching for the purpose of attending a course of medical lectures at Baltimore, Md. He will leave for Baltimore the 12th of March, and we predict for him much success in that course. Mr. Bell is a student of Bingham's School, and has the elements to make a man successful in all business life, that of untiring energy and perseverance. W. A. Baggett, W. B. Barefoot and J. K. BIZZELL-MATTHIS.
Sampson's Parallel to Each Arden.
A very happy and somewhat romantic marriage was solemnized in South Clinton to-nash about four miles from Clinton on last Thursday evening. The contracting parties were Mr. D. A. Bizzell, of Johnson county, and Miss Rachel Matthis. The attendants were as follows: Mr. Henry James with Mrs. Henry James; Mr. H. R. Murphy with Miss Melenna Matthis; Mr. Henry Lamb with Miss Thankful Calson; Mr. Lake Matthis with Miss Mary Matthis; Mr. Wellie Matthis with Miss Ella Lamb; Mr. James Matthis with Miss Mattie James; Mr. Robert Sanders with Miss Emma Matthis. L. C. Hubbard Esq., performed the ceremony. Just as he had finished and congratulated the bride and groom the editor of this paper, by request, stepped forward and read a letter of congratulation from Miss Margaret T. Matthis, a sister, in Monticello, Ark. The letter was a happy surprise and very appropriate. An abundant supper was spread to which each one paid "his" enjoyable respects. Music, dancing and rare enjoyment followed. We were reluctantly forced to leave quite early, and can imagine only how much we missed by so doing.
But where does the romance come in? We understand that the bride and groom were sweetheart playmates when children. The ties of affection knit stronger as childhood bled into youth, and youth bloomed into manhood and womanhood. But alas, the engagement was broken by the miscarriage of an important letter which is now supposed to have been destroyed in the Clinton post office, which was burned about that time. Thus two loving hearts were separated for many years, each thinking the other was untrue. In the meantime one of the parties had married and become single again. An accident clears away the mystery and the happy event last Thursday evening was the result.
It is More Than Worth the Money.
The newspaper is a great educator. A child beginning to read becomes delighted with a newspaper, because he reads of names and things which are familiar, and he will make progress accordingly. A newspaper in one year is worth a quarter's schooling to a child, and every father must consider that substantial information is connected with advancement. The mother of a family being one of its heads, and having more immediate charge of children, should herself be instructed. A mind occupied becomes fortified against the ills of life. Children amused by reading or study are of course more considerate and more easily governed. How many thoughtful young men have spent their earnings in drinking or gambling saloons who ought to have been reading? How many parents who have not spent five dollars for newspapers for their families, have given hundreds to reclaim sons, a daughter who had ignorantly and thoughtlessly fallen into temptation! Subscribe and pay for your local paper, and let your children form an early habit of reading.—Carthage Blade.
YOUNGEST REPORTER IN THE STATE.
A Boy Ten Years Old Reports to "The Caucasian."
The following letter was received January 1st, but was accidentally misplaced and did not turn up till yesterday. The value of the communication as a matter of news is of course lost by the delay, but we publish it as encouragement to other small boys and girls:
DUNN, N. C., Dec. 29, '89.
(Special to THE CAUCASIAN.)
Mr. A. B. Godwin's Ivory stables burnt up last night. Mr. James Gregory had rented the stables, and four or five buggies got burnt up. The lost about one thousand dollars but Mr. Godwin had two hundred dollars insurance on the stables, but the stables were large and ran clear across one square, and were nicely built and cost more than twice that amount. They were not far from his large hotel. It got scorched right bad, but is not damaged.

YOUR EXCELLENT PAPER.
A Map of the Busy Life of the County.
CLINTON, MISS., Feb. 9, '90
Marion Butler, Esq.—Dear Sir: You will find enclosed one dollar and fifty cents, for which please send me THE CAUCASIAN. Brother Hardy mailed me a sample copy. I see many familiar names in it, and was much pleased with it. I see that I can keep up with you all through your excellent paper this year, for I am interested in what the old county is doing, and I see that your paper is a map of its busy life.
Respectfully yours,
R. H. BENNETT.
